

Animal Science E-Newsletter

Department Preparing Second Annual ANSC Day Festivities

Animal Science Day 2015

When: Friday, October 30
 5:30 - 9:00

Where: Pauline Whitaker Animal Science Center

There will be a haunted house, herding dog demonstration, games and costume contests for everyone in the family, including the dog! We will have demonstrations and activities featuring the Animal Science Department's horses, cattle and sheep! Admission is FREE and open to everyone! There will also be trick-or-treating in a safe environment!

Go to animal-science.uark.edu for more information.

Notes...

- Animal Science faculty Dirk Philipp and Ken Coffey, with others, authored a paper that was recently published by the American Society of Animal Science's Animal Frontiers. The paper is titled "Regulatory, production, and consumer based challenges of forage-based cattle production systems in the Southeastern United States."

- Congratulations and a big thank you to Hadley Twilley; Linda Jones and Janeal Yancey for their years of service to the University and this Department. Hadley was honored for 35 years of service, Linda has been here for 20 and Janeal just reached the 10 year mark.

Hadley
Twilley

- Congratulations to Lensey Watson, for being named an Outstanding Jr. Block & Bridle member in the national Block & Bridle organization. }